To Whom It May Concern:

I gave my money to IHI in good faith and being promised a return on my investment. Now I am told that because of Government intervention I have lost my investment. If this company was originally investigated as an illegal MLM operation, then why are they (the operators of the company) not responsible to return my money and instead file bankruptcy to protect themselves from paying out honest people.

This is an unfair practice on all parties concerned.

I certainly did not know about the danger signs as Stanley Van Etten was highly recommended for start up companies.

These guys start these schemes and get the money out of the company and then file bankruptcy. Meanwhile they are laughing with their full bank accounts and claim bankruptcy, and to heck with everyone else who invested with them in good faith.

These operators of these companies especially if they are illegal operations should have to pay back the money out of their own personal pockets and maybe they would think twice before starting up schemes to rip other good people off while they line their pockets.

$20,000.00 is a huge amount of money to me. I don't know why they don't pay everybody back their investment. I think at the time it cost me $25,000.00 Canadian.

Department of Justice letter dated November 22, 2006 states that United States District Judge Terence W. Boyle ordered Van Etten to serve two 60 month terms in prison and to make restitution in the amount of $14,339,820.00 to the victims of the now defunct Mayflower Venture Capital Fund 111.

According to the official letters about Stanley Van Etten and his co conspirators they should be made to give me back my money.

Sincerely,
Deborah A. Broughton
